SOUTHERN newspapers speak of the "rev-" enue thugs."

Tais is the nineteenth anniversary of the battle of Bull Run. There is now an effort to bring the country back to the condition it was in previous to that battle, but we think the effort will not be successful.

THE Richmond Dispatch having shown that the assessed voters of Mr. Goodn's district are 16,699 negroes to 15,706 whites, the Whig remarks that it is also well known that more whites vote the republican ticket in that district than in any other in Virginia, and asks: "The question is, therefore, on seeing Mr. Goods in congress " (like a fly in amber)-' how the devil he which has puzzled us, and we think now that the Whig could answer it if so dis-

A REPUBLICAN club of Columbia, S. C., has passed a resolution recommending to the state executive committee of the republican party WILLIAM E. EARLE of Greenville as the nominee for governor, and that a state convention of the party be held for the purpose of nominating a full state ticket. If a state ticket is to be nominated by the republicans in South Carolina this fall, the party could hardly make a better selection for governor than Hon. WILLIAM E. EARLE. He is one of the ablest lawyers in the state, has an unblemished reputation and is a stalwart republican. Our fear is that the be thoroughly and efficiently done, for there party there has not the wisdom to make so good a selection.

tion of the courts, the wholesale perjury most shameful chapters in the history of the democratic party. Mr. DAVENPORT showed how immigrants were made citizens who had not been in the country a month; how men of sixty years had been naturalized in 1868 as minor aliens; how thousand at so much a piece; how professional witnesses perjured themselves thousands of times; how signatures were forged; pretense of declaring their intentions were naturalized; in short, the whole story which describes all the ramifications of this giant rescality is now laid bare. No wonder the democrats fought so hard to suppress Mr. DAVENPORT during the late session of congress. The contest of the extra session and the late session between the and pure elections.

THE NOTE OF PREPARATION.

It begins to be manifest that no mistake was made when ex-Governor Jewell was put to the head of the national republican committee. He has entered upon his duties with a vim. He is planning his campaign, establishing his communications, assigning to duty, preparing his armory and arranging his army for the fight with consummate energy, and no doubt the result will show with remarkable skill and ability. His first labor has been in the direction of unity and harmony, and that seems to be emi-'got there!' " This is a conundrum nently successful. This preliminary work promises an efficient and telling campaign, such as will rejoice the republicans and appall the democrats. All this imparts early courage and brings the vital energies of political warfare into action at the outset, and assures a united, harmonious, efficient, zealous and resistless canvass, which is an augury of certain success, for when the republican army moves forward as one man it foretells a triumphant and overwhelming victory to the republican

> This canvass will be conducted under the impression that victory is within our reach if we deserve it. It will not fall into our basket like ripe fruit without an effort. There is much work to be done, and it will is not an intelligent republican throughout the country who does not appreciate the dangers that must follow democratic success, and to avert these dangers the party will labor on under the inspiration that one more effort must be made and another vote must be secured to render our triumph certurned aside by securing the successful election of the republican candidate for the throughout the school districts in all the is the gauge of controversy tendered us by the democrats, and we accept it as present-

HOW THE MONEY GOES, The fable of the oyster, the two clients and the lawyer, in which the lawyer opened president and the majority of the two the shell, gobbled up the bivalve himself houses was for the state of New York, and and handed to each client a half of the the president won. In the face of the facts shell, is being paralleled to some extent in how supremely audacious is the claim of New York city. It appears that last year the Cincinnati platform for a free ballot a factional war sprung up in that city between the Tammanyites and the anti-Tammanyites over the appointment of inspectors of elections. It was a contest in which the city had no direct interest, as it was purely factional, having no general bearing upon the government of the city or upon the interests of the tax-payers. But nevertheless the lawyers got hold of the case, and although the corporation took no part in the dance the lawyers demand that it shall pay the fiddler.

Messra. DAVID DUDLEY FIELD and WILLIAM DORSHEIMER appeared for Tammany hall, and E. W. STOUGHTON was on the opposite side. Now FIELD and DORS-HEIMER claim $5,000 each for their services, while Mr. STOUGHTON asks for $2,500. The question now arises, Why should the taxpayers of New York be called upon to provide for paying $12,500 to lawyers who were not engaged by the city, but as the result of a democratic cat fight?

It appears that the legislature passed an act last winter providing for the auditing of this claim, but Mayor Coopen declares that Governor CORNELL approved the bill under the assurance of Mr. Dogs-HEIMER that the amount of the claim would not exceed $5,000. It is now swelled to more than double that amount, with no show of relenting on the part of legal rapacity. These squabbles are very expensive to the tax-payers of New York. The lawyers put their grapples upon the treasury, and the tax-payers have to bleed. The recent police commissioners' litigation cost the city some $18,000 for counsel fees. and the end is not yet.

PENNSYLVANIA has just completed a state insane asylum at Norristown. It has all the modern im-provements, including a tiptop superintendent in to person of Dr. Robert Chase, taken from our national asylum, stewards, matrons, etc. It cost over six numbed thousand dollars and 680 beds. But it has no patients, or at least only six. This is a very awkward state of affairs. The trustees are depend ent upon the income derived from the contribute the public insane and from private patients for everything except the salaries, which are paid by the state and it will go very hard with them to have to keep up all their machinery of adminis-tration with only half a dozon patients. The counties seem disposed to keep their lasane at home, where the expense is less, even if the acminodations are not so good. A New York man named Sanger recently at-tempted to shoot his wife. He failed and was arrested. The wife agreed not to proscents upon condition that her murderous husband should enlist in the United States army. The magistrate agreed and sent Sanger under guard to a recruit ing station and had him mustered in. POLITICAL NOTES.

Ir the democratic press had appealed half as ferently to the democrats in 1863 to follow Hancoc as they do now there never would have been an essity for the draft. Is is a striking fact that every dilapidated "reeran" who deserts the republican camp and goes over to the Hancock ranks has a noticeable nose. You knows him by his nose. THE Wheeling (West Va.) Register tells its der ocratic readers that the republican party of that state will be thoroughly organized, and that the democracy have a fight to make which calls for the exercise of judgment, for thorough organ-lation and discipline of its forces, and for expeenced, sagacious, and determined leadership.

THE state superintendent of education in South Carolina issues a notice to "the teachers of the state" that a normal institute will be held at Spartanorg lasting three weeks. Although this is at state expense for the instruction of teachers in the fro-public schools, many of whom are colored, the in Itation is explicitely made to all white teachers. It is announced, with a show of authority, that he Hon. John H. Starin declines to be a candidate for re-election from the twentieth congressional diririet of New York. This is to be regreited. for Mr. Starin, though not a debater in the house, was a thorough and systematic worker. He retires from public life to devote his cutire time and at-tention to his private affairs. THE official returns of the Oregon election give George, republican, 1,397 majority for congresa. The total vote was 5,812 more than in 1878, when Whiteaker, democrat, now defeated, was elected. The three republican candidates for supreme judges had an average majority of 1,006. There is not much hope for Hancock in these fleures field is as sure to carry Oregon and California as Tite Philadelphia Times says the democratic press gets to mention that the democratic party is a practical free-trade one, that its candidate is run-ning on a free-trade platform, and that the politihoughts he repeats is a free-trader.

THE old policy of brag has been introduced into this canvass by the democrats, notwithstanding all past experience should teach them that it is neither safe nor expedient. It is a habit more honored in the breach than in the observance, for it has be-trayed many a democrat into a false confidence. leading to the loss of money and subsequent grief. Brag and bluster are not very safe implements of political warfare, for they sometimes burst and al-ways recoil, bringing disaster to friends and joy to the enemy: but if they insist upon their use they aust submit to the consequences.

THEY say he weighs 200. His is a clear case of fair, fat and forty. The fair and fat will no doubt captivate some tastes, but the forty is rather ques-tionable, except with the unterrified chivalry. But seriously, wouldn't it be nice to have a president for once who looks like one? What does the country care about whether he knows anything about the vital questions of the day or not? The brigadiers will attend to all that, with the aid of the node, patriotic, generous Mr. English and the clever Mr. Black, not to mention John W. Forney, A. B. Mullett and George B. McCarteceses.

THE democrats may have all their arrangement made for carrying the south by force and fraud, but they must not be permitted to employ their ac-customed methods without protest and exposure. The republicans must present candidates for corgress in every district. We should advise against nomination of local tickets, either county of state, but in favor of a thorough canvass for mem-bers of congress and the electoral tickets. We will have a house of representatives after March 4, 1881, which will see that republican majorities are not successfully overcome by fraud or force.

COLONEL FORNEY has joined the spiritualists, and says in his last issue of the Progress that "Horace Greeley is in open affiliation with the democratic This is journalistic enterprise, but ver, painful to the friends of H. G. They had hope d, as also all good people, that the future abodes of the sage of Chappaqua and the democratic party would not be in close proximity, and really Colonel Forney must make some explanation. H. G. often told the democratic party they would go to the devil, but he hardly expected to go there himself. We auxiously await the next communication. Ir should be always remembered that the attacks made upon General Hancock in connection with the execution of the marderers of President Lincoin came entirely from democratic sources. The attacks meant more than a more spasm of morbid sympathy for a rebel woman. They were inspired by a hate for the best of presidents, a secret joy at his death and a secret sympathy for those who compassed his death. The remarks of the daughter of Mrs. Surratt upon General Haucock's connection with the execution are mild compared with the teus of thousands of democratic assaults, denounc-ing him a woman murderer. The duty of defending General Hancock has, until now, fallen en tire!" upon republican papers. ALL the endeavors to fuse the Tammany and anti-Tammany factions in a grand mass meeting for Han-cock and English have finally ended in a fully and nothing now remains but to have two meetings estead of one. The fact will place democratic peakers from other states in an awkward dilemms For example, if they speak at the Kelly meeting and not at the other, they will incur the odium of and not at the other, they will incur the odium of encouraging a factions opposition to the "regular" democracy, while on the other hand, if they go to the Irving hall demonstration and not to Tam-many, they will be certain to excite the hostifly of a political leader who still claims that he not only "killed off Tilden at Cincinnati," but that he can command fifty thousand votes in the state of New York to be cast for or against almost anybody he chooses to designate. What Tammatty is really after is the retention of the city government, and nothing that threatens to deprive them of that will be countenanced for a moment. Irving hall may as well make its mind up to that.
